Male Orphan Society-Annual Meeting.

VALED IMMEDIATELY, TWO EFANERAL Also, a YOUNG LADY The Society held its twenty-eighth annual meeting at Dr. Hoge's church last night. The extreme heat of the weather prevented ANTED, IMMEDIATELY, SEVEas full an attendance as was expected. The boys from the Asylum, as also the inmates of the Female Humane Association, were present. These added very much to the enjoyment of the occasion by singing ANTED, a WHITE WOMAN to clean several pieces during the exercises of the

There were 25 cases, but no death took place immediately. During the past summer and fall, however, the fatal issue came-4 deaths from the effects of measles and I from heart disease. All these cases were very protracted, requiring long and patient nursing. While the death of so many boys sadden our hearts, the reflection that we did all in our power to save them is not without comfort.

During the past year additional grounds and buildings were purchased, so that now there are six acres of land and abundant room for 100 boys. A beautiful flower-garden, laid out by an experienced English gardener, has added much to the appearance of the institution.

At the last meeting there were in the asy lum 59 boys; received since, 21; making in all. 80. Put out, 6; run or sent away, 4; died, 5-total, 15. sent away, because we took one boy into the asylum who turned out to be insane; another we sent away because he was so vicious that to retain him would have been to endanger the whole school; then there were three boys not regularly indentured by their parents or guardians to the asylum, but were taken from the streets. I stated in my last annual report that I had during the previous year endeavored to reclaim several vagrant boys, but without success. I had almost resolved never to make the attempt again. But the three boys that I received last year were recommended to me by friends, who said they were well disposed, and this Top FAMILY PH.ETON:

They were all beyond the age at which we usually receive children. One was seventeen. As stated before, one ran away and one was sent away. The third still remains, and promises well, but we have our fears. Of the six boys put out five have been bound to reliable persons. One was adopted by a prosperous farmer in Albemarie who has no children. There are several boys in the asylum now ready to go to trades. No boy will be put out except to learn a trade unless those applying are willing to adopt him. We still desire to have our small boys adopted. To keep a boy from five to fifteen years costs about $1,000.

The Board acknowledges the receipt of $1,000 bequeathed to the Society by the late laquelin P. Taylor, of this city. The cost of maintaining the asylum for the ast fiscal year was $5,874, and the amount received from various sources was $4,550, eaving a balance against the asylum of Health: He succeeded, however, in eluding the officers of the law until yesterday, when he was arrested by one of the police force of this city on one of the trains on the Danville road, bound for Richmond. The sheriff of Halifax was on his way to Richmond with convicts for the penitentiary, and saw the accused on the cars. He had had a capias for him, but at the time did not have it with him. The officer, knowing that he could not arrest him, inquired of the conductor whether the Legislature had not invested such railroad employes with the powers of a justice of the peace

Being informed that such was not the case, the sheriff was about to, or did, telegraph to the Chief of Police here to look out for Smith when the cars arrived, as he was a fugitive from justice from Smyth county. A short distance nearer Richmond, however, one of the city police force got on the cars, and being informed of the matter took Henry Smith alias Henry Wamack into custody, On arriving here he was locked up in the First station-house.

The name of the negro could not be ascertained. There was a string tied around his neck, but there were no marks of violence upon the body. The remains were removed to the city morgue to await identification. The Coroner was notified, but, under the circumstances, deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Elitors of the Dispatch : A correspondent in your issue of this morning complains of the cat nuisance, and inquires what can be done to abate it. He also asks if it would not be well to pass an ordinance restricting each family to one dog and one cat. To the fying sale of the property therein reported. | dog I will submit, as he generally stays upon his own premises; but from the thieving, confirming report of commissioners and mewing, maranding family of cats I pray to be relieved. I have been annoved so long that I speak almost as one without hope. Decree confirming report of commissioner, Allowing each household only one cat cannot cure the evil-it will not prevent the assembling of the regiment that nightly and even daily reconnoitre around my lot, wallowing over my flower-beds, herbs, &c., throwing down my bird-cage in the attempt to get the bird, and seeking what they may devour generally. Some folks may take al this philosophically-aye, meekly; but I can't stand it any longer. I have been for parties to go first to the Commissioner of the months past threatening all sorts of vengeance, and now, with patience worn out. I have concluded to either poison or trap them. I hate the sight of them. I knocked one off a fence the other night with my umbrella through hatred of the breed.

This annoyance is one which has tried the patience more or less of every household, and an effective remedy would be gladly accepted. The fancied value of a cat for catching mice is overbalanced by its irrepressible kleptomania, and my experience is that ten cents worth of poison will do away with more rats and mice in twenty-four hours than a cat will eatch in as many bonths.

Let us have an ordinance giving twenty-five or fifty cents for every cat, dead or alive brought up to the captain's office, and I'il warrant that the cat ranks will be pretty well thinned out. People would go into the business-first-rate opportunity for the unemployed. Another means of relief could be found in suspension of the ordinance prohibiting shooting within the corporate limits so far as the killing of a cat is concerned. Where there is no law for a case we must come down to first principles—self-preservation, etc. Editors of the Dispatch : Please call the attention of the responsible authorities to the filthy condition of the streets and alleys in
